

StreetBeat

rhythm

Teams are challenged to produce their own colourful and vibrant street carnival in just 90 minutes!

Working in groups, facilitated by talented percussionists and choreographers, participants will explore the sounds which can be made from instruments such as trash cans, drain pipes and yard brushes, and the visual effects which can be created from a host of 'urban uniform' items.

The facilitators will then help them mould these raw sights and sounds into a performance which has both meaning and feeling, relying on creative teamworking to achieve a shared goal, with only limited resources and under pressure from the clock.

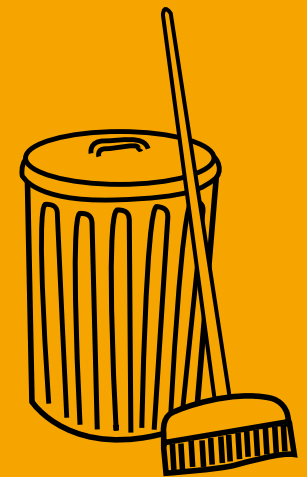

The resulting dynamic and uplifting performances will clearly show how different groups interpret, express, and achieve success in different ways.

Achievement - Synergy - Shared Success - Pride. StreetBeat is the kind of experience which can perfectly capture and define what you want your team to be... streets ahead!
